Devise Plan To Improve Community

Co-operation Is Slogan At Dinner Meeting Of Local Organizations

"Get together" was the keynote of the interorganization dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Wistaria Vine Gardens. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the meeting attracted representatives of 19 local organizations and clubs, with an attendance of more than sixty persons.

Newly elected chamber president, William Burr, presided and introduced newcomers, Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgerald, their son, Jack, Fitzgerald and Mrs. Fitzgerald; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Culum and Mr. and Mrs. John Spoelstra, owners of the new Sierra Market.

Before introducing Mose Breeze, principal speaker of the evening, President Burr stated the aims and ideals of the Chamber for the coming year and said, "We must coordinate our local organizations into one group, through which we can all work together for the good of Sierra Madre."

Vitality alive to the problems of community building, Dr. Breeze stressed the importance of an organization such as the Chamber of Commerce and the value of cooperation in carrying out any undertaken project. Using his home community of Chester, England, built on a hill and surrounded by four walls, as an empire, Dr. Breeze stated that any community to progress and grow must, through the Chamber of Commerce, get together, build walls and build them strong.

Gates of care, exercise and abstinence must be made in the west wall, Dr. Breeze explained with special attention paid to children's needs, so they will grow in a community that will help them develop physically, mentally and morally.

The east wall should be built with three gates—for the eye, ear and appetite, Dr. Breeze explained, stressing that the beauty of Sierra Madre, the valley and the mountains should be capitalized and publicized widely.

"Tell me what your community likes to see, tell me what they like to hear and eat mentally, and I will tell you what they are," he said, adding that the Chamber of Commerce should aid in all enterprises that uplift the community.

The north wall—the moral wall—and the south wall of faith, hope and charity—the spiritual wall—were dwelt upon by the speaker.

"You have got to build into life the spiritual values that will lift us up above devastation," Dr. Breeze said. "In building a community you must have high ideals or you will get nowhere."

A practical solution to community building problems, Dr. Breeze remarked, is to increase membership in the Chamber of Commerce by making each member responsible for one or more new members. "Get together and work together for the good of Sierra Madre through the Chamber of Commerce," was the speaker's advice.

Sierra Madrean Wins Championship In Chess Tourney

Sierra Madre has another "champ" in her midst. Marcus A. Woodward this week won the silver loving cup presented as first prize by the Pasadena Chess Club at the conclusion of its tournament. The tournament lasted two months with participants from all over the Southland. Last year's champion was one of Mr. Woodward's opponents. An elimination tournament, all players who lost a game were dropped out.

Mr. Woodward first became interested in chess at the age of 17. Returning home from a trip to Europe and the Orient, one of the passengers on the boat taught him to play.

"When I reached my home in Pittsburgh, I joined the Pittsburgh Chess Club and I've been playing ever since," said "Champ" Woodward.

New Nursery Firm Is Latest Addition To City's Business

In line with the recent trend of business to the western part of Sierra Madre boulevard, a new nursery opened this week at 129 W. Sierra Madre blvd., on the site of the former baby golf links. Operated by two local men, Otto Bailey and Donald R. Damon, the Sierra Madre Nursery has a complete stock, including bedding plants and seeds, fertilizers and garden equipment. All types of shrubs, trees and plants are carried by this concern, which also specializes in landscaping. Free delivery and free estimates are a part of its services and it calls attention to the convenient location on the boulevard.

Mr. Bailey, who has lived in the city seven years, was formerly connected with the old Pioneer Nursery, Mr. Damon, a home owner, came to Sierra Madre four years ago.

Trail Race Up Mt. Wilson Arranged

City And Chamber Of Commerce Get Behind Move To Revive Annual Event

After a period of nine years, interest in hiking has again been aroused and will culminate in a Mt. Wilson trail race scheduled for late April or early May. At a meeting of civic leaders and walking enthusiasts Monday night at the City Hall William Burr, president of the Chamber of Commerce, declared that his organization will sponsor the race as soon as preliminary details have been worked out. Mayor W. J. Schiltz stated that the race would receive the city's backing after it had been sponsored. District Forest Ranger Ellsworth Hurlan said that if funds are available in time, the trail will be put in shape for the hike.

The committee in charge of the race is headed by Fred LaLone, with Sierra Madreans who have participated in former races serving with him. They are Henry Neutzel, Harold Williams and James Kelleher. The starting point for the race has not been decided—it may be from a downtown point, from the foot of the trail or Wistaria Vine Gardens.

The last race was held March 22, 1930, with Harold Williams of this city placing third. About 400 entries were received from all parts of the county with contestants starting off in front of THE NEWS office and hiking to Orchard Camp, a distance of 4.1 miles. A Los Angeles youth, August, won first place.

Originating in 1905, Richard K. Fox, a hiking enthusiast then living in Sierra Madre and publisher of the once popular "Police Gazette," offered a medal to be permanently possessed by the first runner who won the race three consecutive years. No one accomplished this feat, however, because the war put an end to the races for a number of years, and the medal went back to the donor.

Sierra Madreans In High Places At Junior High School

As usual the high scholarship rating of Sierra Madre students at Wilson Junior high school has won coveted positions in the school cabinet for the new semester. Members of the cabinet were installed at the first student body meeting Monday afternoon.

John O'Grady heads the Boys' Welfare Commission, a position so acceptably filled recently by Loren Pratt, now a PJC student. June Solnit heads the Girls' Welfare committee. Betty Adams is chairman of the entertainment committee and Melba Scott of the thrift and finance committee. Mary Jane Clatworthy is secretary of the student body.

By reason of their commission chairmanships, June Solnit and John O'Grady automatically become presidents of the Girls' League and the Boys' League.

Sanatorium Benefit Is Big Affair

J. S. Weber, president of the San Gabriel Valley League, announced early this week that well over three hundred reservations have been received for the annual dinner dance of the League which will be held Sunday evening at the Ambassador Coconut Grove. Mrs. Weber is general chairman of the affair, proceeds from which will go to the Los Angeles Sanatorium, in Duarte. In addition to dance music by Chuck Fosters orchestra, there will be a floor show. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Weber. Funds raised to date are in excess of $4,200, which will also be used for the sanatorium.

Mrs. H. B. Hersey will be special guest at the Founder's Day program next Wednesday at Wilson Junior High School where she is a past president of the P.T.A., as a luncheon guest of Arthur Brown, principal who will conduct her on a tour of inspection through the newly constructed buildings for which she waged a long campaign as a P.T.A. leader.

Mr. Cromwell is an Electrical Institute graduate.

LOW TEMPERATURE VARIES NINE DEGREES HERE AS JACK FROST VISITS CITY

Ramona Ave. Kids Enjoy Brief Skating Party— Ice Curious Go To School

Fickle February had many surprises tucked away for Sierra Madreans when she decided to vary her temperature Thursday and give residents an citrus-orientated weather that was milder by nine degrees than that recorded on Carter avenue. Colonel H. B. Hersey reported 35 degrees at his home above the Wistaria Vine, while Carl Pegler, city treasurer, said the thermometer in his grove read 26 degrees, while he and other growers fired their pots.

Ice covered puddles of water all over the city delighted youngsters. Sylvia Shippey was so around her home at Nehr Drive that she took a chunk of it to school and exhibited it as a curio. Boys and girls in Herbert Dowling's neighborhood on Ramona street got a thrill out of ice skating in front of the Dowling garage. An early riser, the Pacific Electric conductor threw a few pails of water over 30 square feet of concrete in front of his garage, ate his breakfast, and threw more water over the ice that had formed. In a short time a made-to-order skating rink was all ready for youngsters to try out their skates. The "rink" melted away by 9 o'clock.

Dark clouds over the citrus areas gave evidence that smudge pots had been burning all night, but no damage was done in Sierra Madre area. Frost on the streets and sidewalks proved that the cold weather gripping the Eastern section of the country touched a finger to southern California as well.

It was unusually cold for this time of the year, Col. Hersey stated, inasmuch as it is a little past the time when Sierra Madre experiences her lowest temperatures, but on the other hand, it was not excessive.

Harbingers of spring in spite of the chilly air, wild geese flew north over Sierra Madre Wednesday morning, thereby agreeing with Colonel Hersey's prediction that today will probably see a rise in temperature, probably with a little rain, and unsettled weather over the weekend.

Rain, totaling .51 of an inch fell Monday, bringing the total for January up to 4.37 inches and the season's total to 13.23 inches.

COUNTY'S CHARITIES HEAD REVEALS ASTOUNDING INCREASE IN COST OF RELIEF

Eighty Percent Of Drain On Taxpayers Fixed By Acts Of Legislature

(Editor's Note: The following is the conclusion or summation of an address delivered by Rex Thomson, director of the Los Angeles County Department of Charities, before the Sierra Madre Woman's Club on January 25. With 75,000 cases being handled through Mr. Thomson's department monthly, calling for the expenditure of $2,358,000, and the number and cost mounting alarmingly—THE NEWS believed every citizen and taxpayer should have this first hand information.)

By REX THOMSON
Director, L. A. County Department of Charities

You will be interested to know the type of cases constituting the 75,000 of the department's relief rolls. The total case load is composed of four major types, as follows: Aged aid, 50,600 cases; blind aid, 3,000; child aid, 4,400; general relief, 17,700.

Why they are on relief rolls—State laws include in complete detail all factors that shall constitute eligibility for aged, blind and child aid, such as age, residence and exemptions allowable on property holdings. These laws have been amended to conform with requirements in the Federal Social Security Act. Their provisions are binding upon the counties. Therefore in the administration of aged, blind and child aid the county acts only as an agent of the state and entirely in accordance with mandatory provision of those laws. The state also imposes an obligation to afford general relief, but grant to boards of supervisors a degree of latitude which is not allowed in the legal provisions for aged, blind and child aid. In the administration of general relief, board of supervisors may determine the definition of what constitutes indigency, the relief allowances to be given and the "emergency aid."

Due to the exactitude and scrutiny which the department's personnel has exercised in carrying out state and federal provisions, this county provides old age assistance to a smaller proportion of its entire population than the average California county and aged aid is provided to a smaller percentage of those persons who are 65 years of age and over, notwithstanding the fact that seven percent of the county's population is within this age group as compared with 6.7 percent for the rest of the state.

Los Angeles county has 49.5 percent of all blind persons in the state, according to the State Department of Education. Aid is being granted here to slightly less than that same proportion of the total persons receiving blind aid in the state. This type of relief more nearly approaches an outright pension than any other type of relief. It has been held by the legislature that a blind aid recipient is not considered a pauper, and the average relief granted is the highest of any form of assistance outside of wage levels.

In 1934, under the original old age assistance law, the department had an average of 6000 aged aid cases. In the following four years, due to liberalization in state and federal laws under which it is mandatory that counties provide aged aid in specific amounts and according to liberalized eligibility, the aged aid case load increased to its present total of 50,600.

In 1934 the county's share of aid to aged persons was $11 per month per person, and the total annual county cost was $800,000. The net county cost per case is now about $5 a month but the mandate by the legislature to provide assistance to increased numbers of cases has resulted in demand on county tax sources totaling $4,200,000, including administration, during the current fiscal year.

Furthermore this reduced county cost per case is largely due to a special state grant provided exclusively for the current fiscal year. Normally this would approximate $9 per case.

The county has discretionary power in less than 20 percent of the total disbursements by the Department of Charities for relief. The balance of more than 80 percent is controlled by mandatory provisions of state laws. Many applicants for aged aid have legally responsible relatives apparently or definitely known to be able to assist, but who are disinclined to do so. Nevertheless, aid must be granted, and the county's only recourse is to bring suit in Superior court to recover the aid extended and, to quote the law, "the granting of or continued receipt of aid shall not be contingent upon recovery."

The general relief case is not eligible to receive joint federal, state and county assistance as the other types are, but must be serviced wholly by the counties in compliance with the state Welfare and Institutions Code. These cases are declared unemployable by state determination—no employables are afforded aid by the Department of Charities. Such aid as employables receive must be acquired from the State Relief Administration or Federal Works Progress Administration.

Sixty-six percent of the general relief cases have been residents of California for more than 10 years. All general relief cases must have resided here three consecutive years without having received relief from either public or private agencies. The law provides, however, for "emergency cases," even though non-resident. Such "emergency cases" actually form a small percentage of the department's total responsibility. They are unemployable by reason of age, accident or disease, destitute, have no relatives or place of legal settlement to which they may be returned, and are unable to gain assistance from private agencies.

These cases may be divided into two classes:

1. Those who have physical presence in this county for three or more years, of which there are about 1400. They are receiving aid under an order of the board of supervisors dated April 12, 1938, which was made by authority of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

2. Those whose physical and/or mental condition is so impaired that the denial of assistance would jeopardize the health and life of the individual or the health and welfare of the community, and those destitute persons provided temporary care until arrangements may be made for them.

Observance Planned For Scout Week

Joint Court Of Honor Opens National Program In Sierra Madre

Boy Scout Week in Sierra Madre will be duly recognized from February 8 through February 15 with window displays of Scout equipment, handicraft, signals, etc., Craig McLaughlin, local Scout leader of Troop 1, announced last night. Selection of the windows will be made shortly.

All local Scouts will wear their uniforms on Citizenship Day, February 9, and Scout Church Day, Sunday, February 12.

Preceding Scout Week by a day, a joint Court of Honor will be held Monday night at 7:30 in the Congregational Church with boys from Troops 1 and 2 receiving awards.

George Shipway of Troop 1 will receive the Star Scout award from Scoutmaster Craig McLaughlin. This is the first award in the highest Scout division and is just one step short of a coveted Eagle Scout pin. Last October George was presented with his first class award.

From ten to fifteen boys will be given merit badges from Troop 1. Tomorrow is the last day work may be turned in to receive an award.

No plans have been made at the schools.

Taking an active part in the celebration of the 29th anniversary of the founding of Boy Scouts is E. B. DeGroot of East Orange Grove avenue, under whose direction the Chicago Council was formed in 1910. Since that time Mr. DeGroot helped to establish the San Francisco council in 1915 and is now chief executive of the Los Angeles Council, which is the third largest in the United States. The Sierra Madrean has served as technical advisor in motion pictures, and during Boy Scout week will speak in Southern California and give radio talks.

Park Naturalist To Speak At The Vine

Frank Bean, park naturalist, with headquarters at Sequoia National Park, will speak at the Sunday evening super program at Wistaria Vine Gardens, February 5. The naturalist will discuss the bill which is being introduced by State Senator E. W. Gearhart at Sacramento, urging Congress to transfer John Muir National Park to the national park division. Reservations may be made by calling 2763.

City Will Miss The Derby And Spats Of Edgar Whitney

Sierra Madreans will miss an interesting personality and a rather picturesque character, Edgar Whitney, and his familiar black derby hat and tan spats will no longer be seen on the streets here where he has resided for over 11 years. He died early Wednesday morning at the Sierra Madre Rest Home. April 2 he would have been 89 years old and was among the last survivors of the old time traveling salesmen, or "drummers." He had traveled from coast to coast for 50 years for various business concerns.

Everyone who knew Edgar Whitney liked him. He was a kindly old gentleman but in his later days a very homesome one. So far as he knew, he said, he hadn't a relative in the world and during recent years his hearing became more and more impaired so that it was most difficult for even those who liked him best to carry on a conversation with him.

For more than seven years he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Frank U. Smith of North Lina street and until it became almost impossible to converse with him he was a familiar figure about the shopping district where he was always a welcome visitor in the shops and groceries. Born in Adrian, Mich., he came to Southern California with Mrs. Whitney. She died at Long Beach 11 years ago. Alone and suffering with asthma he sought Sierra Madre's climate for relief. Recently his heart became affected and he was removed to the Rest Home.

WOMEN TO LEARN REAL ART OF FLOWER ARRANGMENT AT CLUB SESSION

THREE predominant types of flower arrangement will be discussed by Mrs. Lorena Hull when she appears before the Woman's Club in an interesting lecture on flower arrangement next Wednesday. Mrs. Hull, who for years has been a student of this creative art, will trace the growth of each type and the international art principles which govern them.

The definite pattern of modern designs will be explained as well as the Victorian or old-fashioned mixed bouquet, and the love of the commonplace which is shown by the Japanese in their arrangements.

Many types of flower holders and containers will be exhibited, and there will be a showing of arrangements created by Mrs. Hull, Miss Florence Gilmore, Mrs. E. G. Everett and Mrs. McDonald, of South Pasadena.

At the afternoon session, Miss Gilmore, who for many years held the position of interior decorator with one of the largest furnishing stores in Chicago, will speak on "Color Through the Ages," illustrating her talk with samples of textiles. She will follow the romance of color through historical periods and explain how the individual personality is reflected in choice of color.

Cocktail Bar Loses Days Receipts In Mystery Robbery

Sierra Madre police have been trying since Monday morning to solve the mystery of the disappearance of more than $100 in money from the cocktail lounge of the Sierra Madre hotel. In their investigation they have quizzed more than a dozen people who were in the bar when the lounge closed at 2 o'clock in the morning and Roland Ellison, bartender on duty, placed his receipts in a canvas bag and hid it.

Mrs. Preston, part owner of the cocktail lounge, later found the sack with change, in the ladies' room of the cafe. The bills were all missing.

Miss Alice Hanks, Librarian In Santa Barbara, Dies

Mr. and Mrs. James N. Hawks were called to Santa Barbara Tuesday by the sudden death of Miss Alice Hanks, sister of Mrs. Hawks, who for the last ten years has held the position of librarian at the natural history museum in Mission Canyon in Santa Barbara. Miss Daisy Hawks, Mrs. Randolph Wood and Mrs. Edith Ladd left Thursday morning for Santa Barbara where funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon.

HITLER'S speech on January 30, should be an object lesson to the world—and most certainly, of all places, to America.

The sickening spectacle of the whole world holding its breath while a dictator speaks, should—if nothing else could do so—solidify thinking sentiment in America against centralization of power; against one man government; against any influence in our affairs that would deny the supremacy of the citizen.

All too long we in the United States have taken our civil liberties too much for granted, and as a matter of course. Here our presidents and our governors are our servants whom we may make or break at will. In Germany and other authoritarian states the dictator is absolute. The citizen has no voice nor no choice. There are no citizens, but subjects, and the subject has no rights nor privileges except such as are granted by the state. Even the right to life, itself, is held by the dictator, for he may make war or peace according to his own sweet will. And even if the subject is not sacrificed in a war kindled by selfish ambition, he is liable to the concentration camp and the firing squad if he presumes to think for himself.

Our American system has long been under attack both from within and without and only intelligent vigilance on the part of our citizenship can preserve our priceless heritage. Every decent American should stand on the ground that no man is good enough, or wise enough, or strong enough to rule him. He proposes, in co-operation with his fellow citizens, to rule himself. He retains for himself all his inherent rights—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. And that includes free speech, free press, free assembly, free thinking, freedom in religion, self determination. He grants to the state only such powers as he wishes the state to exercise for him. That, in a nutshell, is the rock upon which the American philosophy of government is built. And if we sit tight, do not rock the boat, it will endure.

It should endure because it has proven the best government in the world—notwithstanding we have blockheads in our midst who seek to change it. And it has produced a measure of happiness and prosperity unknown to any other people. If the thinking peoples and nations of the world would completely ostracize the sabre-rattler and moronic egotist of Berlin—make him an outlaw among nations—his possibilities for evil would soon be liquidated. If the world continues to regard him seriously and to temporize with him, the day of reckoning cannot long be delayed.

And it does seem that when one man can menace the peace and safety of the whole world, that fact alone should be sufficient to call a halt on the spread of dictatorships to other lands. For any free people to think they would like to trade places with the slaves of Hitler, Mussolini or Stalin must be just plain balmy—"teched in the head." Such thinking just doesn't make sense.

The Marriage Problem

By VALENTINE WILLIAMS

Author of "The Man With the Club Foot," "Island Gold," etc.

Wives Will Become Equal to and Independent of Their Husbands

BECAUSE I hold that the trend of the modern world is toward a higher standard of morality, I believe that marriage, perhaps fifty, more certainly a hundred years hence, will be an infinitely looser tie than it is today, but surer and much more precise in its definition of responsibilities.

Talk of divorce, or of easier divorce, immediately brings the religious authorities to their feet in protest. That is as it should be. The Christian religion, always striving upward, made of marriage a sacrament not only to elevate above the purely physical the solemn act of begetting children, but also to secure the proper realization of the responsibilities deriving from this act.

In a world in which women, morally and economically, occupied a definitely dependent role, marriage was their only shield against social ostracism and misery, the sole safeguard for the children against neglect and abandonment, the main stay of the idea of the family as a cell in the organism of the state. On material, quite apart from religious grounds, the churches are quite right to hold inalterably to the present institution of marriage until the respective responsibilities of man and woman in the relationship of the sexes are more precisely defined.

As an institution marriage was primarily devised in the interest of the children. The state of a hundred years hence, I am firmly convinced, will have assumed the free education of every child on sane and homogeneous lines. Early marriage will be encouraged by government subsidy; the mating of diseased individuals will be made a felony punishable by loss of civil rights as part of the penalty; criminal lunatics, morons and the like will be sterilized, and the soil being clear for the production of healthy progeny, a bounty will be paid on the birth of every child.

Marriage has never been a bar against immorality, but in the world of tomorrow the state will insure that the sins of the father (and mother) are not visited upon the children.

With the pulling down of class barriers mankind is becoming increasingly intolerant of restrictions. For this reason, among others, I have expressed the view that marriage is inevitably destined to become a looser tie. But all responsible statesmen recognize that the home is the basis of national stability, and governments of the future, while forced, as I think, to ease the fetters of matrimony, will meet the tendency to take excessive advantage of easier divorce by remedying the economic abuses which, in our Twentieth century, lead to the break-up of so many homes.

By 2000 A. D. socialistic ideas of taxation, already now on the march, will prevent the accumulation of great private fortunes. There will be a leveling down of wealth all around which will enable governments more efficaciously to secure the economic independence of the married woman.

I believe that the wife of 2000 A. D. will be legally recognized as the equal and independent partner of her husband. She will be entitled to draw a proper housekeeping allowance, based on a fixed percentage of her husband's means, this percentage being proportionately augmented with the arrival of each baby.

Women who are wage-earners themselves will be compelled to contribute, but on a lower scale. Marriage will be a partnership which either party can apply to the courts to have dissolved, as in business, if the other partner fails to comply with his obligations.

This arrangement will cover not only the case of the husband who stints his wife of money in the interest of his private pleasure, but also the case of the type of modern woman who marries for a good time and neglects her children and her home as well as her husband.

In the case of divorce or dissolution of the partnership, the state, which will be the trustee of all children, the citizens of tomorrow, will see that the children concerned, legitimate or illegitimate, are promptly provided for, according to the disposable means. Thus the man who, to marry, abandons an illegitimate family, will no longer get off with a derisory payment dragged out of him, after much expense and publicity, through the courts. Alimony dodgers will be heavily punished, and I fancy that the childless wife, often no doubt unjustly, will get no alimony at all.

To sum up, easier divorce, hedged about with such sanctions as I have outlined, is the direction in which we are progressing.

Trying To Dispose Of States Largest Orange Crop

With 41,000 more cars of citrus fruits on hand than this time last year, orange and grapefruit growers of California and the nation are this week looking hopefully toward the second national citrus sale this week to help dispose of the huge crop.

The crop of oranges is the largest in the history of California. The nation's chain stores and the Independent Food Distributors Council have pledged themselves to take smaller profit margins on the golden crop, and to put special advertising and other sales efforts behind it. The special campaign, in which some 18,000 California growers are concerned, will continue next week.

Youth's glamorous land of Hollywood, whose siren call has led many an ambitious youngster to shoal up on the rocks of despair and hunger, is becoming no kinder to the screen-struck extra. It has just been estimated that the income of extras this year will fall some $600,000 behind last year's. Even within recent years, the average extra's income has fallen within the neighborhood of $200. Such cold-blooded, cheerless figures will doubtless do little to tarnish the glamor of the promised land of movie-struck youth. But they contain a generous hint that this particularly yielding pay dirt to all prospectors.

A proposal by the city's humane society that Pasadena's cats be licensed just like dogs, has stirred up a controversy like the one that raged in Sierra Madre several years ago when an ordinance proposing licenses for cats was before the city council. The proposal finally went to a vote here and failed.

Neither wars nor hardships are slackening the growth of the world's family. The latest League of Nations monthly bulletin places the world's population at 2,134,000,000 in 1937, an increase of 18,000,000 over the preceding year. For whatever bearing it may have on the future course of world events, it is noteworthy that over one-half of the earth's peoples are in Asia, with China's 450,000,000 and India's 350,000,000 comprising the dominant share. Those vast countries remain giant reservoirs of poverty and sub-standard ways of living, where drought and pestilence, the barriers of caste systems, the inertia of other-worldly philosophies, still prevail to challenge the dynamic force of Westernization.

California motorists used more gasoline during 1938 than in any other period in the history of the state. The total gasoline tax assessed amounted to $51,601,430.04, gain of $17,426.35 over 1937.

It isn't headline copy, but a recent survey of representative industrial plants employing a total of more than two millions, revealed that there is a greater proportion of workers over 40 in industrial employment now than

ILLINOISANS RETURN FOR WINTER VISIT

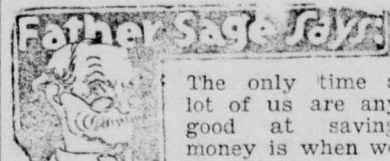

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Melley and Mrs. Hazel Patterson arrived last Thursday from Illinois for an extended visit with their sister, Mrs. Mae Marsh, 41 Victoria lane. Mrs. Patterson visited here last year and Mr. and Mrs. Melley enjoyed a winter here about ten years ago. At that time they were so pleased with the livable qualities of the F. H. Hartman home that upon their return to Illinois, they built a duplicate dwelling for themselves at Naperville which they have enjoyed since.

Capt. Alfonso Quits County Service After 36 Years

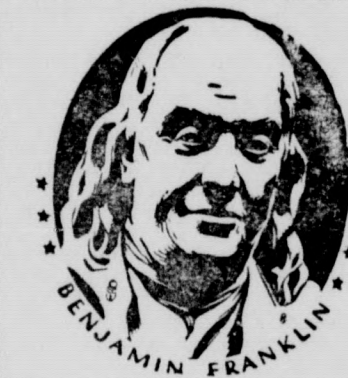

With an official career covering more than 36 years, one of the county's best known public figures, Herbert D. Alfonso, better known as Captain Alfonso, resigned February first from the position of chief deputy tax collector of Los Angeles county.

Captain Alfonso entered the service of the county January 3, 1903, as a clerk. In 1910 he was appointed chief deputy and continued in this position until 1934 when, after the death of Colonel Welch, he was appointed to the position of tax collector. An amendment to the county charter, adopted by the voters that year provided for the consolidation of the offices of treasurer and tax collector, and as a result County Treasurer H. L. Byram assumed the duties of tax collector. In January 1935 Captain Alfonso resumed his position of chief deputy, which post he vacated on retirement.

Hockey In Yosemite Makes Football Look Like Checkers

A night game of ice hockey "which made football look like checkers," proved the most interesting and spectacular winter sport witnessed by Lee Shippey and party at Yosemite last week. Mr. and Mrs. Shippey who returned recently, enjoyed the trip in company with friends from Los Angeles. They were greeted by a snowstorm as the entered, followed by warm days which made outdoor dining at Badger Pass a real pleasure. This was the Shippey's first winter visit to Yosemite valley which they have found to be an ideal spot for an all-round winter vacation.

Mrs. H. B. Hersey returned Friday with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Burbank from Laguna Beach where she enjoyed several days visiting Mrs. Hudson Proctor.

Midget Racing Cars Driven By Washing Machine Motors

Sunday midget races for children which are held each week on Huntington Drive in San Marino are proving of interest to many Sierra Madre families, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Morrison and family who attended the races last week and greatly enjoyed the performance of the homemade cars, some of which are running with washing machine motors and have been made by their young pilots under the direction of racing car builders.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Morrison and family, 20 West Grand View avenue, accompanied by Mrs. Lillian Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Morrison and family, spent Sunday picnicking near Palm Springs, and greatly enjoyed the beauty of the cherry trees at Beaumont and Banning, which are just coming into bloom.

LITERARY SECTION HEARS JAPANESE MUSIC

Masao Koga, noted Japanese composer, who is the guest of Chobun and Mrs. Yonezo Okamoto, appeared last Friday evening before the Literary Section of the Woman's Club in a program of original compositions. He was assisted by Masao Shimizu, Japanese musician who accompanied him to California recently.

Others appearing on the program were T. Virgil Truman, principal of the Pasadena Evening High School who read from a volume of poems entitled "Sun Dance" written by his uncle, Dr. Homer C. House. Lucia Trent and Ralph Cheyney each read original poems to a musical setting created and played by Mrs. Nelle L. Vieira, music chairman of the club. Mrs. Vieira also presented Miss Helen Nomura, local Japanese soprano, who opened and closed the meeting with a group of songs. Mrs. Al Myers and Mrs. Lillian Parcell MacAllen, hostesses, served refreshments.

MRS. LAWSON ORGANIZING A NEW CLUB CLASS

Mrs. Ruana Lawson entertained a group of club women at a delightful tea at her home last week where plans were made for the formation of a class in the "Art of Co-ordination" which will be started at once under her direction, and will be held each Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Osgood room of the clubhouse. Anyone wishing to join the class should contact Mrs. Lawson who will arrange for one private lesson. "I insist," said Mrs. Lawson, "on a private lesson first, so that I may learn the individual requirements of each pupil, thus being able to give each, personal attention in class."

Committee members who attended were Miss Clara Sykes, Mrs. V. V. Donehey, Mrs. Alice Sedgman, Miss Olive Sedgman, Mrs. F. C. L. Roess, Mrs. Al Myers, Mrs. Sylvia Quittner, Mrs. Nelle Vieira and Miss Beth Harvey.

Mrs. Phala McGuire, matron at the British Home, spent Monday with her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Jr., at her home in Alhambra.

Heavenly Wonders
Knox Subject In Next Lectures

"Wonders of the Starry Heavens," is the lecture topic which Dr. Phillip L. Knox will give Sunday night at 6:15 and again at 7:45 o'clock in the Shakespear Club auditorium at 230 South Los Robles Avenue, Pasadena. Interest in this free lecture will be augmented by the use of many beautiful screen pictures of the heavens taken through the world's largest telescopes.

Preceding the address, the "Coloquib Boys," popular colored quartet, will give a half hour program of spirituals and plantation melodies.

During the week Dr. Knox will lecture at the same address, Monday through Friday at 7:30 p.m. A powerful telescope in charge of John Wesley Knox will be mounted in front of the auditorium, without charge for its use.

Charities Head
Tells High Cost Of
County's Relief

their return to their states of legal residence. These number about 1,100.

This analysis of the department's case load dispels the widespread belief that local costs of relief have been tremendously increased by the so-called "emigrants" from the East. Although such has been the case in many of the "Valley" counties. The number of aliens on relief rolls and why they are there. Aliens for whom the state law requires equal consideration with citizens in the "general relief" group also comprise a much smaller percentage of the department's responsibility than is generally believed. Less than 5 per cent of the department's case load and relief disbursement goes to aliens. Also the average alien has lived in the county and state for several years. Of the total case load, 27 per cent are Mexican aliens. It is seldom realized that the great majority of the "Mexicans on relief" have been citizens of this state and nation for several generations.

By segregating the various forms of aid or relief it will be seen what proportion of the total cost is borne by the local taxpayer, the federal and state governments.

Current monthly disbursement for aged aid is $1,630,000, paid for as follows: County funds, $254,300; state funds, $656,900; federal funds, $718,800.

Current monthly disbursement for blind aid is $145,000, paid for by county funds, $49,900; state funds, $49,900; federal funds, $45,200.

For child aid the current monthly disbursement is $203,000, paid for by county funds $80,000; state funds, $86,500; federal funds, $36,500.

The current monthly disbursement for general relief is $380,000, paid for by county funds, $380,000, state funds, none; federal funds, none.

An interesting fact brought out by Mr. Thomson was that until 1933 there were no Chinese on the county's relief rolls. Since that time Chinese societies have been unable to care for all of their indigents and there are now about fifty cases on the rolls. He can recall the case of only one Japanese ever having received relief and this was for a very brief period.

Discussing the subject of housing projects for the poor classes, he pointed out that the so-called slum clearance project in New York has not improved the lot of the slum residents but rather of the slum residence areas, because recently constructed dwellings of the slum clearance project are occupied by families enjoying higher incomes while those formerly living in slum dwellings have been obliged to move into quarters even worse than those in which they were formerly housed. He said there was an average of 3230 alien residents per month on the rolls of the department during the period between July 1, 1937, and December 1, 1938, costing taxpayers of Los Angeles $1,911,364.40. The cost per month was $112,433.20.

Thirty-seven nationalities are represented on the rolls, Mexicans leading with 2035 cases.

The Marriage Problem

By VALENTINE WILLIAMS

Author of "The Man With the Club Foot," "Island Gold," etc.

Wives Will Become Equal to and Independent of Their Husbands

BECAUSE I hold that the trend of the modern world is toward a higher standard of morality, I believe that marriage, perhaps fifty, more certainly a hundred years hence, will be an infinitely looser tie than it is today, but saner and much more precise in its definition of responsibilities.

Talk of divorce, or of easier divorce, immediately brings the religious authorities to their feet in protest. That is as it should be. The Christian religion, always striving upward, made of marriage a sacrament not only to elevate above the purely physical the solemn act of begetting children, but also to secure the proper realization of the responsibilities deriving from this act.

In a world in which women, morally and economically, occupied a definitely dependent role, marriage was their only shield against social ostracism and misery, the sole safeguard for the children against neglect and abandonment, the main stay of the idea of the family as a cell in the organism of the state. On material, quite apart from religious grounds, the churches are quite right to hold inalterably to the present institution of marriage until the respective responsibilities of man and woman in the relationship of the sexes are more precisely defined.

As an institution marriage was primarily devised in the interest of the children. The state of a hundred years hence, I am firmly convinced, will have assumed the free education of every child on sane and homogeneous lines. Early marriage will be encouraged by government subsidy; the mating of diseased individuals will be made a felony punishable by loss of civil rights as part of the penalty; criminal lunatics, morons and the like will be sterilized, and, the soil being clear for the production of healthy progeny, a bounty will be paid on the birth of every child.

Marriage has never been a bar against immorality, but in the world of tomorrow the state will insure that the sins of the father (and mother) are not visited upon the children.

With the pulling down of class barriers mankind is becoming increasingly intolerant of restrictions. For this reason, among others, I have expressed the view that marriage is inevitably destined to become a looser tie. But all responsible statesmen recognize that the home is the basis of national stability, and governments of the future, while forced, as I think, to ease the fetters of matrimony, will meet the tendency to take excessive advantage of easier divorce by remedying the economic abuses which, in our Twentieth century, lead to the break-up of so many homes.

By 2000 A. D. socialistic ideas of taxation, already now on the march, will prevent the accumulation of great private fortunes. There will be a leveling down of wealth all around which will enable governments more efficiently to secure the economic independence of the married woman.

I believe that the wife of 2000 A. D. will be legally recognized as the equal and independent partner of her husband. She will be entitled to draw a proper housekeeping allowance, based on a fixed percentage of her husband's means, this percentage being proportionately augmented with the arrival of each baby.

Women who are wage-earners themselves will be compelled to contribute, but on a lower scale. Marriage will be a partnership which either party can apply to the courts to have dissolved, as in business, if the other partner fails to comply with his obligations.

This arrangement will cover not only the case of the husband who stints his wife of money in the interest of his private pleasure, but also the case of the type of modern woman who marries for a good time and neglects her children and her home as well as her husband.

In the case of divorce or dissolution of the partnership, the state, which will be the trustee of all children, the citizens of tomorrow, will see that the children concerned, legitimate or illegitimate, are promptly provided for, according to the disposable means. Thus the man who, to marry, abandons an illegitimate family, will no longer get off with a derisory payment dragged out of him, after much expense and publicity, through the courts. Alimony dodgers will be heavily punished, and I fancy that the childless wife, often no doubt unjustly, will get no alimony at all.

To sum up, easier divorce, hedged about with such sanctions as I have outlined, is the direction in which we are progressing.

★ A Message for the People of Sierra Madre
from The Model

Have Health and have it abundantly
Eat Eugenia Bread loaf 20c
This bread is made with whole wheat flour from the mills of this country's only woman miller. A tedious, slow process of grinding retains all the vitamins and minerals vital to human health. The process of grinding helps to give the bread a sweeter, nutty flavor which is thoroughly enjoyed by all who eat it. We are offering an exceptional bread product to our patrons. Buy it and try it!
